CHAPTER XVI.

AN ARGUMENT AND AN EXPLANATION.

VENGENCE gleamed in Orskoff's eyes. His sword was at the throat of the American. "Stealer of women! Scoundrel who has twice stolen the daughter of Biartekis. Where have you hidden her? The searchlight of the gunboat revealed the hayboat, but she is not there. Where have you hidden her?"

"Now, captain," said Harvey, "don't be too hasty in this matter. I did not steal Koura Biartekis, but I know where she is."

"You know! Of course you know! But you lie when you say you did not steal her. You came down the Kur in a hayboat belonging to the Astrakhan Charka with a woman disguised as a man? Who else was that but Koura?"

"You are getting excited! Kindly take that confounded sword from my throat. I'd like to talk with some comfort."

"Comfort! A stealer of girls asks for comfort! That is the limit of American effrontery. I'll run the sword to the bone."

"If you do, I assure you that you will never see your Koura again."

"See, he admits he has the girl! He has accomplices who will kill her if he is harmed!" shouted one of the soldiers. Something in the words and manner of Harvey impelled Orskoff to lower his sword. He turned to the soldiers who were guarding the four robbers and said:

"Take them on board the gunboat. It is evident that they have robbed Russians, for here are bags of rubles. They must be taken at once to Tiflis. Convey all the treasure on board."

Turning again to Harvey, his face assuming its expression of hate, he said: "You know that I love Koura, and to rescue her I am willing to parley with you. I had determined to kill you on sight. Come with me."

Harvey followed his captor to the entrance of the cave. Here he found a guard of additional soldiers with lanterns. In the distance a brilliant searchlight sent its gleam upon the island, lighting it as by day. In the great light from the gunboat Harvey could see that the old hayboat had stuck in the mud near the island. At a little distance was a sailing vessel, evidently the property of Palpak and his robber brothers. On the shore were two boats, which had landed the Russians.

The five prisoners were jostled rudely while getting into the boats and at a command from Orskoff were soon on the way to the waiting gunboat. They were received on board by a young officer, who saluted Orskoff.

"I congratulate you, my captain. I am told by the men that you not only captured the American who stole the daughter of Biartekis, but that you also had the good fortune to seize the four robbers who attacked the paymaster and robbed him at Mogda."

"Are you sure these are the men?"

"I could not be mistaken. The leader is Palpak, chief of the tribe of Zanucks, nominally under the rule of the ameer, but hating him."

"Guard them well then."

"Shall we get under way at once, my captain?"

"No, lieutenant. As you know, we want to find Koura Biartekis. I have, it is true, captured the man who stole her, but I have not succeeded in finding the young woman. Remain here while I investigate. I shall go on that island in the daytime and search. I can see little at night even with the searchlight."

Harvey stood waiting to be questioned, but Orskoff paid little heed to him.

"Put the prisoners in irons," he said to a subaltern.

"But irons won't unlock my lips," said Harvey.

"I will find a way to unlock your lips. If I cannot find Koura on that island in the morning, I will hang you by your thumbs till you tell the truth."

"But I am anxious to tell it now. You won't listen."

Orskoff waved his hands, and Harvey was dragged away.

The gunboat remained, and as soon as it was sufficiently light in the morning Orskoff took a squad and returned to the island. He examined every foot of the place and returned to the gunboat chagrined and angry.

"Bring up that American!" he commanded. Harvey was hustled to the deck.

"Lieutenant Nevsky, attend!" said Orskoff. "Now, stealer of women, I will give you one more chance to tell the truth. If you do not, your thumbs will be torn out. Your life depends upon your answers. Tell where you have hidden Koura. Your punishment will be worse than death if you do not. Koura was to have been my wife!"

"You said something like that before, but that she was to be your wife is news to me. For my part, I am willing to tell you where she is."

"I have searched the island. I am convinced that Koura is not there."

"I could have told you that and saved you trouble and time. Koura is getting farther away every minute. You will never find her."

"You feign, I will have your life!" howled the captain as he sprang to his feet.

"You do seem inclined that way, but before you take it, reflect. Just show a little common sense, if you have any. If you kill me, how do you expect to find Koura?"

"But you say you do not know where she is."

"I said nothing of the kind. I said I did not know where she was. But I did not take her there. Take off these confounded irons, treat me like a man, and I will tell you what I know."

"Remove the irons," said the captain. The lieutenant unlocked them.

"Come with me alone," said Harvey. Surprised, Orskoff beckoned to Nevsky, who turned and walked away.

"Beware," said Orskoff, "how you trifle with me."

"I am not trifling with you. I am the only man who can help you find your Koura, and it happens that I have as ardent a reason to want to find her as you."

"You can help her?"

"I don't even know her, but one I love is with her."

"Then you did take her away?"

"No, I did not. I know nothing about Koura—that is, except where she is this moment. But, before I tell you, you must first tell me how you traced me to the island."

Orskoff made a gesture of impatience.

"Koura had been living with her uncle in Tiflis. I saw her every day, and if I was not on duty I spent the evening at the house. One night I was on duty and did not go. I stopped to see her the next morning, and her uncle, who was beside himself with terror, told me she had gone out the night before and had not returned. I knew she had been stolen, and, as that was the morning you escaped from prison, I knew you had taken her. I searched the river and learned that Charka's hayboat had gone down toward the Caspian. It was said that a man and woman, the woman disguised as a man, had gone with Charka. I reached the coast as soon as possible, but I could not overtake you. The launch had gone before I made the discovery, or all this would not have happened. On the gunboat I cruised everywhere, using the searchlight at night. Last night we discovered the hayboat and at once went to the island."

"I was on Charka's boat," said Harvey, "and if you had used any reasoning powers you would have known that it could not have been Koura who was with me. You say you were told that the woman with me was disguised as a man. Now, how could I get Koura in such a disguise? When a woman disguises herself, it is for a purpose. Koura was stolen; she did not go of her own accord, as did Alma."

"You speak of Alma Jurneff, niece of the colonel."

"Yes, she assisted me to escape, and, as our attempt was discovered before she could return to her apartments, it was necessary for her to fly with me. On the Caspian the hayboat met with disaster, and Alma and I were left on it alone. We drifted all night, shivering with cold and hunger. In the morning we found ourselves under the bows of a long, black boat belonging to the ameer of Bokhara."

"I know the boat. It is used to carry goods to Persia."

"Not this time. It is being used to carry Alma Jurneff and Koura Biartekis to Bokhara. They permitted Alma to go on board, and I, like a fool, in my excitement allowed them to know she was not what her clothing would show. They would not take me, and the captain, whose name, I believe, is Karakal, or something like that, shouted out to me that they had the daughter of Biartekis and that soon both girls would be the brides of princes."

"Is this true? Do you swear you are telling me the truth? How did they get Koura?"

"Hafiz Effendi passed us in a cayik. He was intercepted at the mouth of the river by the launch, and something was said about sacks. They were permitted to depart. Undoubtedly the Turk had Koura concealed."

Orskoff spent several minutes in thought. Suddenly turning to Harvey he held out his hand, saying: "I believe you. I ask your pardon for the insults I have heaped on you. This is terrible! Koura gone! A slave to the heathen ameer, and I helpless to aid or rescue her! It makes one mad! I could drive this sword blade into my heart!"

"Sit down and be calm," said Harvey. "We can rescue Alma Jurneff and Koura or kill the men who marry or harm them. Let us work the game together. I am starving. Give me some food."

The food was ordered.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—The written confession of Charles F. Kelly, head of the St. Louis aldermanic ring, was followed by the defeat of Edward Butler at the Democratic primaries. The primaries resulted in a sweeping victory for Harry B. Hawes, who represented anti-buodle, anti-Butler forces. Hawes carried every ward in the city except two, and will absolutely control the convention by about ninety votes.

PAYNE IS NO MORE

Postmaster General's Heroic Fight Against Death Was Futile.

END CAME PEACEFULLY

For Some Hours Before His Demise the Head of the Postoffice Department Was Unconscious.

After a Funeral Service at Washington the Body Will Be Taken to Milwaukee For Burial.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Henry C. Payne, postmaster general of the United States, a member of the national Republican committee and a stalwart of his party, with the history of which he has been identified for many years, died at his apartments at the Arlington hotel Tuesday evening at 6:10, after an illness of several days. He was sixty years old.

Stricken with an attack of heart trouble last Wednesday, his condition rapidly became extremely grave. A succession of sinking spells of increasing severity and depressing effect followed, but the remarkable manner in which Mr. Payne rallied from these spells and the responses of the heart action to treatment gave a little temporary encouragement. His close relatives were summoned to Washington as early as last Thursday night.

Never in recent years robust, Mr. Payne was unable to withstand the shock of the sinking spells, and last Friday, when he had two sinking spells, it was believed that he was rapidly approaching the end. While moderate doses of heart remedies sufficed at first it became necessary by Sunday to give much more powerful stimulants.

Mrs. Payne, the devoted wife, remained constantly near her husband, rendering every possible aid, comforting him and hoping for the best. She bore up with remarkable fortitude, and not once did she leave their apartments. Throughout official Washington and in the private circles in which Mr. Payne moved, deep solicitude was manifested. President Roosevelt, whose friendship for Mr. Payne extends back a number of years, was a daily caller at the hotel and was kept constantly advised of Mr. Payne's condition. Mrs. Roosevelt, too, was unremitting in her inquiries and called sometimes twice a day, offering comfort to Mrs. Payne.

The cabinet officers in Washington made anxious inquiries daily as to the condition of their stricken colleague, and many of the officials of the postoffice department evidenced their personal sympathy. Telegrams poured in from every quarter, being especially numerous from Wisconsin and Mr. Payne's home city, Milwaukee. Private Secretary Whitney kept all inquirers advised of the situation up to the hour of dissolution.

Mr. Payne in the capacity of member of the national committee, had participated in six presidential campaigns, and during the last four of them was a member of the executive committee of the national committee. He was the acting chairman of the national committee during the interim between the death of Senator Hanna and the election of Secretary Cortelyou as its head, and the trying duties that then devolved upon him, supplementing as they did the strain of the postal investigation, sapped his vitality and led to his final breakdown.

Payne's Successor.

In succession to Mr. Payne, George Bruce Cortelyou, formerly secretary of commerce and labor and now chairman of the national committee, will become postmaster general. Mr. Cortelyou's appointment as head of the postoffice department was determined upon several months ago by President Roosevelt, when Mr. Payne indicated his desire to retire on account of the precarious state of his health. Mr. Payne would have resigned the portfolio long ago had it not been for the pending investigation of affairs of the department. He felt, however, and said many times to his friends, that he could not relinquish the duties of the office while the investigation was pending, and expressed his determination to carry the investigation to a conclusion. The intense mental and physical strain incident to the direction of the postal inquiry very seriously undermined his strength. He was warned again and again by his physicians and friends that he was subjecting himself to too great a burden, but he refused to heed their counsel. Having concluded the pressing work of the department and carried the inquiry to a point where it passed from the hands of department officials to the court, it was his intention in a few months at most to yield to the admonitions of his friends and relinquish finally cares and responsibilities of official life. Whether if he had lived he would have remained at the head of the postoffice department until the close of the present administration had not been determined definitely. It is understood, though, that the probabilities are that he would have resigned, to take effect about the first of next January. Mr. Payne possessed ample wealth. He hoped that on leaving the department he could so arrange his business affairs as to be able to devote the remainder of his hitherto very active life to rest and recreation. He had promised his family and friends never again to undertake any work which might imperil his health, which for many years had not been good.

It is the understanding now that Mr. Cortelyou will assume the duties of postmaster general as soon as he can after the close of the pending campaign. It is probable that he will enter the office about the first of December, although no date for his taking the office has been determined even tentatively, since after the election it will take him some time to wind up the affairs of the campaign, and he may also desire to take at least a brief rest. In the interim the responsibilities of directing the affairs of the department will devolve on Mr. Wynne, who has just returned with Mrs. Wynne and their two young daughters from an extended trip to Europe. He will continue as acting postmaster general until such time as the president may designate formally the successor to Mr. Payne. It will be unnecessary, it is stated, to formally designate Mr. Wynne as the acting head of the department, as by reason of the position as first assistant postmaster general he becomes actually the chief of the postal service in the absence or in the case of the death of the postmaster general.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Episcopal church, in this city, next Friday morning, and the body will then be taken to Milwaukee, where services will be held next Sunday at the All Saints Episcopal church.

Texas Duellists Shoot Wild.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 5.—During a street duel here between J. M. Chittim, known as the Texas Cattle King, and W. W. Jones, a cattle man and banker of Beville, H. S. Elwell, a traveling man of Milwaukee, Wis., chanced within range and was accidentally killed. Neither of the participants was injured.

Burial of Senator Hoar.

Concord, Mass., Oct. 5.—The last services over the body of United States Senator George Frisbie Hoar were held yesterday in this town, the place of his birth, and several hundred of the senator's former townsmen followed the body to the place of its burial in Sleepy Hollow cemetery.

Pretender's Forces Victorious.

Tangier, Morocco, Oct. 5.—The forces of the pretender to the throne have been victorious over the imperial troops in a severe engagement in the Oujda district. The rebels captured the stronghold of Ain Mulk. A detachment of imperial troops has been sent from here to Oujda.

Floods Claim Many Victims.

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 5.—Reports received from different points in the territory show that the loss of life in the floods that have occurred in the past week was greater than at first thought. At least twenty persons perished and all sections have not been definitely heard from.

Will Go to Far East.

A BIG SUCCESS

Is the Meeting of National League of Republican Clubs.

Indianapolis, Oct. 5.—The biennial convention of the National Republican Club League began this morning at the German House with a fair-sized attendance. Many states are represented, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and New York having the largest delegations. Twenty-five young Republicans have journeyed all the way from Arkansas to see how politics is played in Indiana. The Pennsylvania headquarters has been a busy spot, owing to the fact that President J. Hampton Moore is a Pennsylvania man, and he is a candidate for re-election. It is expected that he will win, although Scott Bonham of Cincinnati and J. B. McPatrick of Chicago are active candidates. The name of George Hellman of Evansville, secretary of the Lincoln League of Indiana, has been sprung for national secretary, and the Hoosier delegates are very active for him. He is a receptive candidate. It would not be surprising if the secretary should be chosen from this state, owing to the strength of the Indiana clubs. Among the notable figures here are Murat Halstead of Philadelphia, who is at the head of the Old Boys club; General James S. Clarkson of New York, Secretary Shaw of the treasury, and George A. Knight of California, who arrived today. Harry S. New, national committeeman, and others well known in Indiana, also put in an appearance today. The meeting seems in a fair way to be a big success.

An interesting phase of this campaign might be characterized as a "study in lithographs." For instance there are hanging in the headquarters of the National Republican League at the Denison House large lithographs of Roosevelt, Fairbanks, Overstreet and Hanly. The one of Roosevelt makes him look much larger than he is. It is a good likeness, although it has toned down his characteristic expression around the mouth. One naturally wonders what has become of the Roosevelt teeth. Senator Fairbanks is made out as a heavyweight. The lithograph presents a full-faced candidate. Senator Fairbanks is not thin, but he carries no extra flesh on his countenance. His beard is made heavy, whereas, in fact, it is thin. The lithographer in this instance has made a mountain of flesh of Congressman Overstreet, which, surrounded by an odd mustache, gives Mr. Overstreet a somewhat grotesque appearance. Hanly is made to appear angry and the profile view does his strong features an injustice. Perhaps the unique phase of it is the picture of Henry Gassaway Davis, Democratic candidate for vice president, who is made to appear the most youthful of the lot. Both of the state organizations are now giving away thousands of lithographs and buttons.

Murder Trial at Columbus.

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 5.—David Wagner is on trial in the circuit court, charged with killing Brice Burns in the Klondyke saloon of this city on the 13th of August. Burns was killed in the saloon during the argument with Wagner, but whether the fatal blow was delivered by the defendant or by someone else, has never been established.

Impressive Appeal for Peace.

Boston, Oct. 5.—A general supplication, coupled with a demand, almost for the institution of peace between nations of the world, was the keynote of the first deliberative session of the thirteenth international peace congress. Delegates from the great countries of the globe, all prominent in their home lands, engaged in the proceedings, giving to the occasion all the dignity and importance of a momentous international assembly.

Seven Men Are Missing.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 5.—Seven men are missing of a party of eight men who went down with the wagon bridge between Lexington and Purcell, after battling with the swift rush of waters for many hours in their vain attempt to prevent the bridge from going out, the only connection between the two towns. Judge Hoeker, who lives at Byers, near Lexington, is the man heard from, but he can tell nothing of the other men.

Rheumatism

Is Not a Skin Disease.

Most people have an idea that rheumatism is contracted like a cold, that the damp, chilly air penetrates the muscles and joints and causes the terrible aches and pains, or that it is something like a skin disease to be rubbed away with liniment or drawn out with plasters; but Rheumatism originates in the blood and is caused by Urea, or Uric Acid, an irritating, corroding poison that settles in muscles, joints and nerves, producing inflammation and soreness and the sharp, cutting pains peculiar to this distressing disease.

Exposure to bad weather or sudden chilling of the body will hasten an attack of Rheumatism after the blood and system are in the right condition for it to develop, but have nothing to do with the real true causes of Rheumatism, which are internal and not external.

Liniments, plasters and rubbing will sometimes reduce the inflammation and swelling and ease the pain for a time, but fail to relieve permanently because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it attacks it in the blood, and the Uric Acid poison is neutralized, the sluggish circulation stimulated and quickened, and soon the system is purified and cleansed, the aching muscles and joints are relieved of all irritating matter and a lasting cure of this most painful disease effected.

S. S. S. is a harmless vegetable remedy, unequalled as a blood purifier and an invigorating, pleasant tonic. Book on Rheumatism will be mailed free.

The Medicine That Cures.

RENO, ORE., May 11, 1905.

Wine of Cardui absolutely does cure sick women. I consider it the most valuable medicine, and it takes as a rule, only a few bottles to effect a complete and lasting cure. I especially recommend it for uterine or ovarian troubles, inflammation and ulceration, painful, profuse or scanty menstruation and it is a most valuable adjunct to use during the gestative period, insuring easy childbirth and speedy recovery.

It should have a place in every home as it is a true friend to wife, mother and maiden and I most heartily recommend it.

Dr. E. Buchanan
WRITER AND LECTURER.

Dr. Mrs. Buchanan is an authority on the science of medicine and certainly appreciates the great work physicians are doing for the relief of sufferers. But this does not deter her from expressing her views in praise of Wine of Cardui.

Mrs. Buchanan's high intelligence and long and successful experience render her advice of great value. Wine of Cardui regulates menstruation, cures bearing-down pains and relieves suffering women of the pain and misery to which their sex is heir. You have the word of Dr. Buchanan and thousands of other eminent women that Wine of Cardui will completely cure you.

BROKE THE NAVY RECORD.

Ray Garrison, of Battleship Maine Made High Score in Target Practice

Ray Garrison, who is in the naval service on the battleship Maine, now on a ten days furlough at his home in Columbus, spent today here with his aunt, Mrs. Mary Isaacs. Garrison is one of the men that beat the navy record in target practice with a six-inch gun off the coast of Florida last spring. Much was said in the papers then about the record made at that time.

Garrison and his mate fired sixteen shots in on minute and fifty two seconds and made sixteen hits. They were shooting at a target fourteen by twenty inches, the target being 1,000 yards away and the ship in motion. Garrison trained the gun while nine of the shots were fired and his partner trained while they fired the other seven.

THE [democratic] editors and spellbinders have neglected to mention the fact that the surplus in the national treasury produced during the month of September was about $4,000,000.

SEE the announcements of the republican speakings in another column. All these men announced are able speakers and it will pay you to hear them. Go hear them speak and invite your friends and neighbors to go with you.

THE per capita indebtedness of Jackson county was $1.50 last year and will be considerably more than that before the end of this year. The per capita indebtedness of Bartholomew county was 48 cents last year. Why this difference? Taxpayers, elect the republican county ticket and the debt of the county will be paid off just as the state debt is being paid off by a republican administration.

The police officers made the effort but were unable to find him.

About fifty people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Pfaffenberger about four miles Southwest of Seymour and reminded Mrs. Pfaffenberger of her 40th birthday. Old Timer Speaks.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—

In the political column of the Sentinel Saturday evening we read that the democratic state committee has "positive and undoubted evidence that the wicked republicans are importing colored voters of the worst class" into the state to vote on Nov. 8. But that the "good democrats" will be able to check-mate this so far as Marion county is concerned but they fear for the rest of the state.

This puts the writer very much in mind of the campaigns of 1868 and 1872 and brings very vividly to memory the doings of the democrats during that period. They then had this same howl of the Sentinel but at the same time were themselves importing voters wholesale and retail. If one of them found a tramp on the road they would if possible hire him until after the election, then he would be set adrift. We recollect in the fall of 1872 coming up from Louisville to North Vernon with a coach load of men who said they were hired to work in a stone quarry near North Vernon. Knowing the methods of the opponents of Grant we were at once convinced that they were brought from the south to vote the democratic ticket and we suppose that they were voted according to plans for a well known citizen of Jennings county was sent to the pen over this load of colonists.

One of the gaug got lost at North Vernon and the writer paid his fare to Seymour and turned him over to the late Jim Robertson and we do not believe that he voted the democratic ticket that year. The hue and cry raised now should put the republicans on guard. The opposition is no better now than they were then. They will bear watching at every point. Another scheme that the democrats practiced years ago was to transfer votes from Jackson to republican counties in an endeavor to defeat their county tickets. These are facts that we know from personal knowledge. Watch for they are at their old tricks again.

OLD TIMER.

by Anna Katharine Green, author of "The Millionaire Baby" recently published in the Ladies Home Journal. ### PRESIDENT STONE ACTS

When Efforts to Prevent Carnival Proved Futile the University Took a Firm Stand.

Students Will Be Compelled to Give Good Excuse For Absence This Week.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 5.—Rigid rules will be enforced this week at Purdue University and any student who can not give a better excuse for his absence than that he has been at the carnival will be suspended for the remainder of the term. President Stone and the faculty decided on this action. Every effort to prevent a carnival being given was futile, although President Stone and his friends convinced the community that it was demoralizing to the students.

TWO MINERS KILLED

Everett Bodkins and David Kelly Lose Their Lives.

Petersburg, Ind., Oct. 5.—By the premature explosion of a "shot" in the Ayreshire mine, Everett Bodkins and David Kelly lost their lives. Kelly was going instantly, while Bodkins lived for a few hours. The top of Kelly's head was blown away. The men had lighted two "shots" in Kelly's room and had walked to the entry, a distance for forty feet, when one "shot" exploded. Thinking that the second fuse had failed to ignite, they went back to examine it, and were within five feet when the second explosion came.

Took Ride Unwillingly.

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 5.—A freight handler for the Michigan Central railway at Detroit, Mich., while putting some hooks in a car designed for Chicago, discovered while at his work that the door behind him had been closed and sealed. He endeavored to attract attention, but failed to do so, and he was not discovered until the car reached Michigan City, after an imprisonment of two and a half days without food or drink.

Bank Consolidation Announced.

The St. Joe bank has a capital of $100,000, with a surplus of $45,000. Colonel Thomas Snell of Clinton, Ill., is president of the new bank.

Cracksmen Make Their Escape.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 5.—Burglars forced an entrance into the office of the Kokomo Fence Machine company in the northern part of the city, broke open the safe with hammers and chisels, and took $50. As the burglars were leaving, the night watchman fired upon them with a revolver, but they fled in a buggy, which was in waiting near by.

Indiana Yearly Meeting Closes.

Illness Postpones Trial.

Bedford, Ind., Oct. 5.—The cases of David Beasley and Henry Tow, charged with killing James and Charles Rountt at Bryantville last June, have been continued until the November term of the Lawrence circuit court, owing to the shortness of the present term and the illness of witnesses and attorneys in the case.

ONE WORD IN TIME

Is Better Than Two Afterwards. A Chance to Profit By a Seymour Man's Experience.

It is a strange thing how people will put off an opportunity until too late; it's only little things that go to make up our every-day existence. The trouble is we don't pay sufficient attention to them. Backache is a little thing. Sometimes it comes after a hard day's work, or a slight cold. It will pass off you say; it's only the result of overtaxing my back. It isn't the fault of your back but your kidneys. The exertion or straining has interfered with their delicate mechanism. You call it backache but it is really kidney ache. If the kidneys are not relieved chronic disorders set in, and this is where "little things" should not be passed over. A Seymour man has learned to appreciate what delay means.

Mrs. Atlas Shannon of third street says: "I found Doan's Kidney Pills to give me positive relief from the dull dragging pain in my back, banish the extreme sensitiveness over the loins which caused sharp twinges when stooping or moving quickly and remove the restlessness nights besides so strengthening the renal organs that I was no longer embarrassed by the kidney secretions. I was greatly gratified by the satisfactory results I obtained and my advice to others is to go to Milhous drug store and procure Doan's Kidney Pills if in need of a remedy of this nature."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo N. Y. sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Rivers was bound over Monday to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of attempting criminal assault last Friday night on Mrs. Williams, a white woman.

FORWARD, MARCH!

This, It Is Thought, Will Shortly Be the Command of Marshal Oyama.

JAPS GROW RESTLESS

General Outpost Fighting Indicative of Near Approach of Expected Forward Movement.

The Veil Is Securely Fixed Over the Scene of Operations at Port Arthur.

Frequent fighting between Japanese advance guards and Cossacks on the south front of General Kuropatkin's army, reported in dispatches to the Russian war office, is regarded as indicative of the near approach of a general forward movement by the forces of Field Marshal Oyama. It is estimated that since the battle of Liao Yang, 40,000 of the guards stationed in western Russia have been ordered to the far East. No word has been received as to the condition of affairs at Port Arthur.

COSSACKS TO THE FORE

Repel Oyama's Outpost Attacks With Ease.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—Official advice from the far East describe a series of skirmishes on the southern front of General Kuropatkin's army, the only importance of which lies in the fact that the Japanese are showing a disposition to press forward and feel out the Russian positions. General Mischenko's Cossacks in every case drove back the opposing forces.

The activity of the Japanese outposts is doubtless intended to screen movements of their armies, and therefore may be regarded as precursory symptoms of final preparations for an advance, which probably will begin within a week.

A special messenger has brought to the emperor General Kuropatkin's full report of the battle of Liao Yang. The messenger, who submitted to an interview, declares that the main army is concentrated at Tie pass, and that it is not likely General Kuropatkin will make a determined stand at Mukden. It is understood that the Third division of the guards, stationed at Warsaw, is under orders to go to the front. This, with the Second division of the guards and the rifle brigade of the guards stationed in and around St. Petersburg, will make altogether about 40,000 guards who have been ordered to the far East.

There were recurrent rumors last night of the fall of Port Arthur, but they have not the slightest foundation.

VAULABLE CONNECTION

Alaska Is Now Within Line of Cable Communication.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Gen. Greeley has received a dispatch from Major Edgar Russell of the signal corps announcing that the Burnside, which has been engaged in laying a cable from Valdez, Alaska, buoyed the eastern cable end at the mouth of Sitka harbor on Monday afternoon. It will require several days to make the shore end connections in the narrow passage of Sitka harbor and throw open the cable to commercial business. This completes the Alaskan telegraph system, which has been under construction for the past three years, during which time about 4,000 miles of land lines and submarine cables have been constructed and laid, and it brings the Nome and Bering strait regions in direct communication with the United States over an all-American route.

Loree Goes Out.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—L. F. Loree has resigned as chairman of the executive committee and as director of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company and of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad company. Mr. Loree also resigned as president and director of the Rock Island Company of New Jersey, and Robert Mather was elected to succeed him.

Completing World's Tour.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Under the appointment of the viceroy of Szechuan province, a party of Chinese officials who are making a tour of the United States to study American institutions and government, has arrived here. They are on their way home to China after a visit to European countries, and will visit the World's Fair en route to San Francisco.

On the Return Trip.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 5.—Senator Fairbanks yesterday started upon his return trip from the Pacific coast, but, although considerable distance was covered, he did not get far on his way. Stops for speeches were made at Palo Alto, San Jose, Livermore and Stockton. A large audience was addressed here last night.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—The Photographers' Association of America is in annual convention here, to continue throughout the week. President C. R. Reeves of Anderson, Ind., delivered his annual address.
